The area around the builing location was plentiful reguarding to rescources.

The location was ideal for defending attacks.

Rome was close enough to thesea to catch fish and gather fresh water.

Why were cities formed?