Government's role in the development of written language

Written language helps the government send and recieve letters,etc. It also can help the government with staying touch with people in the civilization that live far out.

Written language also helps their citizens communicate.